Description:

Fine old color example of Gerard De Jode's map of Hessiae, from the Speculum Orbis Terrarum, which along with Ortelius' Theatrum Orbis Terrarum are the earliest modern atlases of the World.

The map is centered on the Fulda River, with the Werra River in east, Kirchen and Franckenberg in the extreme west, Henneberg in the southeast and Neustate and Allendorff in the north. Engraved by Joannes Van Deutecum. De Jode's atlas was not a commercial success and maps from this atlas are rare, especially the 1578 edition.
