Description:

The First Atlas Map of the State of Virginia

First edition of Carey's map of Virginia, one of the earliest obtainable maps of the State of Virginia and the first map of the state to appear in a commercial atlas.

Wheat & Brun note:

this is a topographical map showing much detail. Many towns and court houses are indicated; county names are given but no boundaries, and a number of roads are shown. The western boundary follows the west fork instead of the east fork of the Gr: Sandy R. [i.e., the Big Sandy River] to the Cumberland Divide. The northwest corner of North Carolina is shown on the Blue Ridge Divide instead of on Stone Mountain.

John Reid would later copy this map for his American Atlas, with minor changes.

Detailed Condition:

Engraving on 18th-century laid paper. Minor toning at centerfold. Moderate offsetting.
