Description:

Early Map of Michigan, Lake Michigan, Lake Erie, Lake Huron &c.

Fine example of this detailed map of Michigan Territory, from Vandermaelen's Atlas Universel, the first atlas to systematically map the world in uniform scale.

According to Karpinski, this is the fourth earliest map to focus on Michigan after the Carey & Lea, Finley and Judd maps. The map provides remarkable early detail on a scale that is larger than any of the other three maps.

The map is a testament to the phenomenal effort Vandermaelen undertook to compile contemporary and highly detailed, the most detailed regional maps of the regions to appear in an atlas. Cartographically, the atlas is a magnificent highly detailed work, pulling together the best information for indigenous sources.
