Description:

Extremely Rare Russian-Language Map of Russian America (Alaska).

Detailed engraved map of Alaska, labeled "Russian Possessions", published in Saint Petersburg in 1836.

This is one of very few contemporary Russian maps to focus specifically on Russian America. Two of the other Russian maps to focus on Alaska from this period are the Piadychev and the Zagoskin.

The following four Russian settlements are identified and labeled:

- Кр. 3. Святителей (Fort 3 Saints, Kodiak, Alaska)
- Кр: Александровская (Fort Alexander, Graham, Alaska)
- Воскресенская Верфь (Resurrection Shipyard, Resurrection Bay, Alaska)
- Новоархангельскъ (New Archangel, Sitka, Alaska)

This is a later state of the map, as there is evidence of erased engraved lines throughout the map image.

The map comes from the 1836 edition of Всеобщий атлас или собрание карт всего земного шара, изданный для пользы юношества и сверенный с географиею Арсеньева и других Федором Позняковым. Второе издание, исправленное и дополненное 7 картами, выгравированными г. Фроловым. This translates as The universal atlas or collection of maps of the entire globe. Published for the benefit of youth and verified by the geography of Arsenyev and others by Fyodor Poznyakov. Second revised edition with additional 7 maps engraved by g. Frolov. That atlas was first published in 1829 (with an additional run printed in 1833), then for this second edition in 1836, and again in 1843 as the third edition. The second edition is in neither the RSL nor NLR.
