

Barry Lawrence Ruderman Antique Maps Inc.

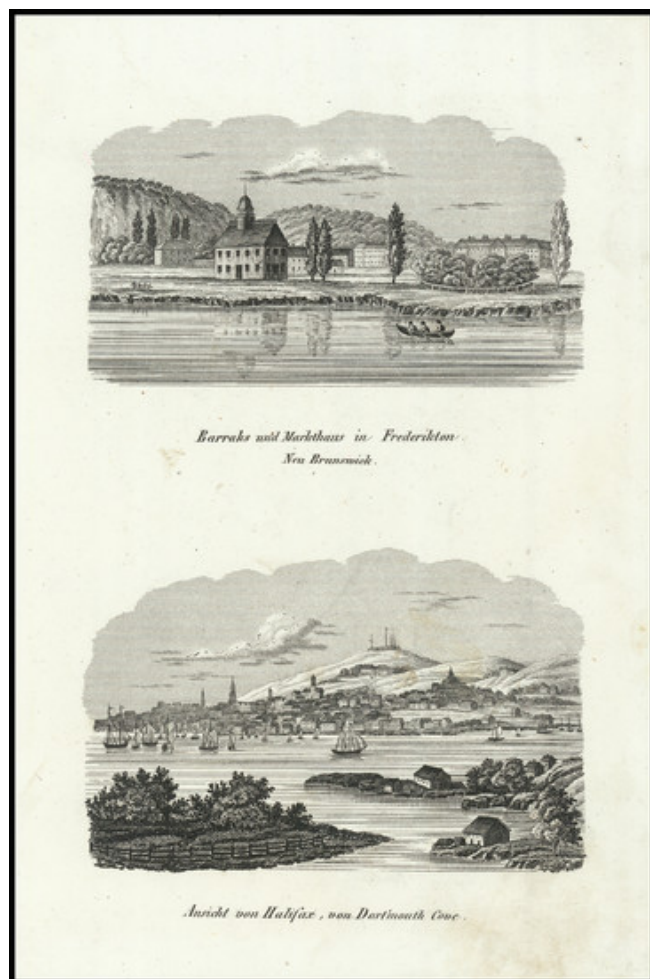

7407 La Jolla Boulevard
La Jolla, CA 92037

www.raremaps.com

(858) 551-8500
blr@raremaps.com

[Halifax and Fredericton] Barraks und Markthaus in Frederikton New Brunswick | Ansicht von Halifax, von Darmouth Cove

Stock#: 86080
Map Maker: Bromme
Date: 1842
Place: Stuttgart
Color: Uncolored
Condition: VG+
Size: 4.5 x 7 inches
Price: $ 145.00

Description:

Interesting pair of views of Halifax, Nova Scotia and Fredericton, New Brunswick, which appeared in a rare travel guide by Traugott Bromme in 1842.

In the mid-19th century, there was a significant wave of German emigration to Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. This movement was part of a larger trend of German emigration to North America during this period

One of the main reasons for German emigration to Nova Scotia and New Brunswick in the mid-19th

Barry Lawrence Ruderman Antique Maps Inc.

7407 La Jolla Boulevard
La Jolla, CA 92037

www.raremaps.com

(858) 551-8500
blr@raremaps.com

[Halifax and Fredericton] Barraks und Markthaus in Frederikton New Brunswick |
Ansicht von Halifax, von Darmouth Cove

century was the political and economic instability in Germany at the time. Many Germans were attracted to the prospect of starting anew in a new land, where they could escape the turmoil and find greater opportunities. Another factor that contributed to German emigration to Nova Scotia was the desire to practice their own religion. Many Germans were members of minority religious groups, such as the Mennonites and the Dunkers, who faced persecution and discrimination in their homeland. In Canada, they were able to freely practice their religion and establish their own communities.

One of the most notable contributions of the German immigrants to Fredericton was the establishment of the Christ Church, a Lutheran church that was built in 1856. The church was the first Lutheran church in Fredericton.

One of the most notable contributions of the German immigrants to Halifax was the establishment of the Emmanuel Evangelical Lutheran Church, which was founded in 1868. The church was the first Lutheran church in Halifax.

Detailed Condition: