Description:

With 30 Original Photographs by A. J. Russell

Hayden went overland by train from Cheyenne to Salt Lake City. He intended this book as a guide to the geology along the route.

According to an inscription by James Stevenson in the example described in To Delight the Eye, only fifty copies of this book were issued. Stevenson may have had some inside knowledge, as he worked with Hayden on the U.S. Geological Survey, but this is the only citation we have found that indicates such a small edition. However, such works illustrated with original photographs were rarely issued in great numbers due to the great expense in materials and labor to create such books.

The photographs are as follows:

1. Moore's Lake. Head of Bear River, Uintah Mountains.
2. Granite Rock. Buford Station, Laramie Mountains.
3. Skull Rock. (Granite) - Sherman Station, Laramie Mountains.
4. Malloy's Cut - Sherman Station, Laramie Range.
5. Dial Rock - Red Buttes, Laramie Plains.
6. Laramie Valley - From Sheephead Mountains.
