Description:

Interesting map of the United States, most notable for its unusual location of Region De L'Or (Gold Region) in California, a most unusual reference on a French map. 54-40 or fight Oregon Territorial Border, Large Missouri Territory and Indian Territory are shown. The Southwest is still called Upper California, and Appacharia appears prominently. New Mexico is still in its Mexican provincial configuration and Texas is also oddly configured. A massive District of Iowa is shown, along with the Northwest Territory, suggesting that while the French had it right in the west, they had not yet updated the map to show Wisconsin or Minnesota Territory. A scarce and interesting map. Many Indian Tribes and Western Forts located.
