Rare, highly detailed map of the Northeastern United States. Includes substantial detail on the various railroad, telegraph, and express lines throughout the region. Lists approx. thirty express companies and their offices for receiving and forwarding packages. Large insets of Philadelphia, Boston, and the Northern Terminus of the Grand Trunk Railroad. Of all Lloyd's large format maps, this map is perhaps the scarcest. Unfolded example, with a few minor spots and three very small holes in the Boston inset, else a very nice example.
