Description:

Striking full color example of Moll's map of North America, including California as an island. The map is one of four large maps of North America by Moll and distinguished him as the leading English mapmaker of the early 18th Century. This map, featuring the inset of the Sasquesahanok map is probably the most detailed and interesting in its treatment of the whole of the US, Canada & Mexico. The map's detailed treatment of Texas, includes explorers routes and dates. The treatment of the Mississippi and Missouri Valleys are extraordinary, if inaccurate. The projection of the Great Lakes, Gulf Coast, Florida and the Southwest are also outstanding. Large insets of Annapolis & the mouths of the Mississippi and Mobile. Too much detail to describe. Offered here in the second state, with John King added as one of the mapsellers. The map has been repaired and restored along the centerfold, with some paper restorations at the fold and along the margins. Because of its size and the manner in which it was bound into the atlas with three vertical folds, the folds of this map are rarely found without some loss and discoloration. A striking full color example of this increasingly rare map. In all, a nice example in gorgeous full color.
