Description:

Interesting early map of the British Colonies in North America, illustrating the geo-political results of the French & Indian War. The map is based upon the map of John Mitchell, and uses shading to illustrate the regions which were lost by France and Spain to England at the conclusion of the war. Large inset map of the mouth of the Mississippi. Minor loss at the top of the map, just entering the printed image and a bit of toning, but still a presentable example.
