Description:

Scarce separately issued map of Washington by J.K. Gill, the leading local seller of books and stationary in Portland at the time. Gill's maps of Oregon and Washington are highly prized for their detail and accuracy, being by far the best separately issued maps of the these areas available to collectors. This example has been flattened and backed with archival paper. A bit of minor staining and some tiny losses along the intersections of the folds, but generally a very nice example of the map, which rarely appears on the market in better condition.
