Description:

The only commercial atlas map to show New Mexico Territory on a single map. The map appeared in the extremely rare Atlas of the United States. The map was derived from the monumental and equally rare wall map, an historic collaboration between Professor Rogers, and American, and the Johnston publishing house in Britain. The map is colored by counties and shows a number of interesting details, including towns, springs, Indian details, topographical information, forts, mountains, etc. A portion of Southern Colorado appears in New Mexico, as does all of Arizona and Las Vegas, Nevada. This map has become virtually unobtainable, with the last dealer catalogue appearance in 1988 (George Robinson). A fine clean example. Only the second example we have handled in 16 years.
