Description:

Nice example of the 1785 edition of Klockhoff's map of the United States, one of the earliest obtainable maps to name the United States on a printed map.

Klockhoff's map first appeared in the 1782 edition of Mandrillon's Le Spectateur Americain . . ., first published in Paris in 1782. The 1782 edition of Klockhoff's map is identified by Ashley Baynton Williams article Early Maps of the United States, which appears in the on line journal Map Forum.

The map includes a detailed depiction of the United States at the end of the American Revolution, along with 5 paragraphs of observations, the latter of which appear only on the editions printed in 1783, 1784 and 1785.
