Description:

A marvelous example of Coronelli's famous 2 sheet map of North America. One of the best examples of California as an island. The map also provides a excellent set of notes on the French explorations in North America, including the explorations of Marquette in 1673 and La Salle in 1682. The map relies heavily on Franquelin's map, including placing the mouth of the Mississippi 600 miles to the west of its true location. One of the truly outstanding decorative maps and an essential map for collectors of 17th Century North America. A nice unjoined example of this highly desireable map. Tooley #57. Cummings, p. 148. Wheat #70. McLaughlin #103. An essential map for collector of California as an Island and the Mississippi Valley.
