Description:

Rare edition of Sanson's map of the World, with a number of other scientific features.

Double hemisphere world map with six small circular diagrams and windrose, emphasizing the grid of parallels and meridians and other circles, and the climatic zones. California is shown as an island, the continents without political borders or place names. It is only the late editions of the map which include the extra scientific features. This example includes a note at the bottom, stating Chez l'Authheur aux Galleries du Louvre 1703.

Detailed Condition:

Trimmed to plate mark and laid down on a large 18th century sheet of paper, as bound into atlas.
