Description:

Scarce and fascinating engraving showing with two great depictions of the Copernican solar system on either side of an armillary sphere with four small maps (Western and Eastern Hemispheres).

Down the center of the sheet are three additional engravings depicting the solar system theories of Ptolemy and Tycho Brahe, and a celestial map with the Zodiac. We have also found this work attributed to Carel Allard (Swaen), but the work is almost certainly attributable to Chatelain.
