Description:

Detailed large format map of Hungary, Slovenia, etc., extending west to east from Drendorf to Guila Feyrwar, and north to south from Ormitz to Belgrade.

Uncommon two-sheet map originally prepared by Price for the unsuccessful partnership of Price, John Senex and John Maxwell (1708-1711). After the partnership broke up, each member took the plates that they engraved with them, the majority of which were engraved by Senex and were re-issued in his 'English Atlas' from 1714. In 1713, Willdey acquired the remainder of Price's stock and began to issue them with his own imprint and in a further ill-fated partnership with Timothy Brandreth. The partnership was not a commercial success and, by later the same year, Willdey was advertising the remaining stock of maps at a heavily discounted price.

Detailed Condition:

Minor marginal tears, several entering the printed image. Repaired on verso with archival document tape.
