Description:

Striking map of Virginia, colored by counties from Fielding Lucas' General Atlas. The map shows counties, towns, roads, rivers, canals, churches, meeting houses, mountains, etc. Fielding Lucas produced the best engraved and most attractive of all general atlases published in America (the 1823 Tanner and 1825 Finley being Atlases of America). Prior to this work, Lucas had engraved maps for Carey and later Carey & Lea and had produced his New Elegant General Atlas, a highly scarce early work. A number of Virginia's western and northern counties are still not shown. Undoubtedly one of the most attractive and sought after early 19th Century Atlas maps of Virginia. Usual minor off-setting. Strong vibrant color.
