Description:

Striking 17th Century map of the World, prepared to illustrate Athanasius Kircher's fascinating work.

Athanasius Kircher was a celebrated Jesuit Scholar and one of the first compilers of the semi-scientific knowledge about the physical features of the earth. This world map appeared in his Mundus Subterraneus . . . The work described the known currents of the ocean, volcanos, chasm, subterranean currents, etc. Shows a marvelous NW passage, massive Terra Australis, Straits of Magellan and over 20 volcanoes throughout the World.
