Description:

Highly detailed map of Skagit County, highlighting the mills, lumber, shingle and other companies.

The focal point of the map is the lumber industry within Skagit County, with lumber mills noted in over 20 towns within the county and a curious note stating that 600 to 800 woodsmen were required to supply the mills in Skagit County (perhaps suggesting a labor shortage). The educational statistics are also noteworthy.

The map identifies Wagon Roads and Public Roads, mines and a number of other details. The style of the map is also quite unique, focusing on details along the principal watershed and ignoring areas which were likely not actively being commercially exploited for lumber.
