Description:

Extremely rare map of Marion County, Florida, adopted as the official map by the Board of County Commissioners and verified by James L. White, County Surveyor.

The map shows a number of features, including railroads, roads, post offices, land owner names, and a host of other fine details. The F.M. Arredondo Grant is still shown on the western edge of the map.

The map is one of the earliest separately published maps of Marion County. OCLC locates only 1 example of the map (Library of Congress). OCLC locates no other separately issued maps prior to an E.P. Noll map, published in 1892 (known in 2 examples),

Detailed Condition:

Several minor areas of staining on the verso. Folds and a few fold splits reinforced on verso with tape, appears to be non-archival and recently done.
