Description:

Rare early map of the the British, French & Spanish Possessions in North America, issued 25 years after the United States obtained its independence from England.

The map still shows the colonial divisions within North America, most notably the massive Louisiana Territory. The map is seemingly based loosely upon John Mitchell's seminal map of North America, although the boundary between Louisiana and British America (Canada) is pushed far south of its appropriate location for the Mitchell.

The map is very rare, this being the first time we have seen the map offered for sale.
