Description:

A section of the Italian edition of Mitchell's seminal map of North America, bounded by Lakes Huron & Oswego and Ohio in the west and extending to Long Island, Lake Champlain etc. in the east. The map was part of Zatta's Atlante Novissimo, one of the great Italian maps of North America in the late 18th Century. The map includes the same details as Mitchell's map, including roads, forts and settlements throughout the region, and details and other minute details. Many annotations. A nice example of this sectional derivative of Mitchell's seminal map.
