Description:

Fascinating set of studies of the lines of the Southern Pacific Railroad and Los Angeles & Salt Lake Railroad, for proposed joint use of railroad lines between the companies.

At the top right of the map, the swithcing station in Colton is shown, much as it exists to day. Across the top, smaller models of the LA Shops, Cudahy, Pomona and Ontario swithe are also shown.

Along the bottom, two elevation profile models show the grade fro Los Angeles to Colton for each of the lines. A fascinating bit of early Southern California Railroadiana.
