Description:

Proof state of De Fer's early 18th Century plan of Turin, published by De Fer in Paris.

A rare early plan of Turin, with an incomplete title and no detailed in the cartouche at the lower right. The map would appear to be a proof state of De Fer's Turin et sa Citadel, which identifies the Attaques de Turin par l'Armee du Roy Commandee par le Duc de la Feuillade en 1706 le 30 Juin, which was also engraved by Antoine Coquart. The later edition includes an elaborately decorated key locates approximately 29 places.

The present state of the map also pre-dates the addition of the battle lines and fortifications around the town, which were apparently added later. The completed plan can be seen here: `{{ inventory_detail_link('27727') }}`
