Description:

Important early chart of the coast from Nantucket to Nova Scotia, including both Plymouth and Boston Harbors, from the 4th Part of Van Keulen's landmark Zee-Fakkel, first published in the late 17th Century. Koeman describes Van Keulen's maps as being of paramount importance in the development of Marine Cartography. The rendering of Cape Cod is very detailed for the period, complete with soundings and surrounding shoals. Includes a curious palm tree in the cartouche. One of the earliest obtainable coastal charts of New England and perhaps the most detailed of the period. An attractive old color example, with very minor offsetting and an in obtrusive library stamp. An essential map for regional collectors. McCorckle 684.2.
