Description:

A scarce early map of the Carolina and Georgia Coastline, which appeared in Le Rouge's Atlas Americain Septentrional and Pilote Americain Septentrional, as well as being separately issued. While the map suggests Nathaniel Pocock as the source, we were unable to find a reference to any manuscript maps or printed maps by Pocock. The map includes soundings, attractive coastal profiles and a plan of Charleston. An excellent Revolutionary war coastal chart. Only a handful of copies have appeared in dealer catalogues over the past 30 years. This copy is laid down on modern linen. It has two small spots, but is in otherwise excellent condition.
