Description:

Fine 4-sheet map of the area around London, published in 1807 by William Faden.

The "third edition" of this fine map of the Greater London area - extending on a one-inch scale north to Tring and Hertford, east to Chelmsford and Basildon, south to Tonbridge, Dorking and Guildford, and west to Beaconsfield and Windsor.

Faden notes that "the turnpike roads are all laid down from an actual measurement with a perambulator" - and this map, originally published in 1788, was the best of its period. It was regularly updated - the present issue revised to include the newly erected Regent's Park and Strand (Waterloo) Bridge - and remained in print until at least 1880.

Detailed Condition:

Dissected and laid on linen, with original slip case.
