Description:

Unrecorded map of the United States, focusing on the Canals and Train Routes (Eisenbahnen) in the United States.

Canals are noted with black lines. Railroad lines are in solid red, with railroads under construction and not yet begun are shown in broken red lines.

There are no railroad lines west of the Mississippi and virtually none completed west of the Appalachian mountains.

One of the earliest printed Railroad maps of the United States, published in Germany, which we have ever seen.
