Description:

Exceedingly rare early commercial Sea Chart of the North Sea by John Hamilton Moore, published in London.

Moore was one of the earliest blue back chart publishers working in London.

The present chart is apparently the second edition, after an edition of 1795, although we have been able to locate only a single recorded example of the 1795 edition (National Library of Spain) and no examples of the 1799 edition.

Detailed Condition:

Blue back chart, with some soiling, fraying and minor damage at the edges, but in all a nice example of a very rare chart.
