Description:

Striking large format map of Alaska, Canada and the Northern US, by John Arrowsmith published in many versions from 1832 to 1859.

This map shows, cities, rivers, topography, and many early place names in Canada and the northern parts of the United States. The United States, Mexico, Greenland and Russian America are also shown. The detail in the northwest portions of Canada are substantially revised from earlier editions, in part because of Arrowsmith's relationship with the Hudson's Bay Company. The detail in the Upper Missouri and Oregon Territory is also noteworthy, at a time shortly after the Oregon question was settled in favor of the United States and the Russians, French, and English presence on the northwest coast of America was in decline.

One of the best and most detailed maps of the period for western Canada.
