Description:

A flawless example of Reichard's rare pre-Lewis & Clark map of North America.

This is the second edition published in 1804, the first to appear without the State of Franklina.

Includes excellent detail along the northwest coast of America, based upon the voyages of Cook, Vancouver, La Perouse, etc. A tremendous amount of information, probably from Hearn & MacKenzie, is included east of the Rocky Mountains in Canada. An interesting treatment of the Missouri River appears, with the known course of the river shown, then an unknown conjectural portion, which later connects to further known portions of the river near the Mandan villages.

The map includes a key showing the various colonial possessions of the English, United States, Spanish, French, Dutch, Danish and Swedish. One of the most interesting large format maps of North America published during this pre-Lewis & Clark era.
