Description:

Rare variant of this striking sea chart of the strait between Sweden and Denmark, published by Goos.

This east-oriented sea chart shows the waterway between Sweden and Denmark leading to the Baltic Sea. Skagerrak, Kattegat and Oere-Sund with Copenhagen on the island of Seeland. The Swedish coast line runs from Schonen, Helsingborg, Hallant north to Goteborg. Opposite is Skagen on the tip of Danish Jutland.

Separated by a decorative acanthus, but etched on the same copper plate, is a large inset of Oere-Sund with Copenhagen and on the Swedish side from about Malmoe, via Landscroon to Helsingborg.

The present example includes an extra note at the end of the title, which is not on any other example of the map which we were able to locate.
