Description:

Fine example of this rare sea chart of the east coast of Jutland, published by Blaeu in his Zeespiegel, first published in 1623.

The Zeespiegel was the second of Blaeu's sea atlas, following after his Het Licht der Zee-Vaert, which was first issued in 1607. The Licht was modeled after this work and resembles Waghenauer's Thresoor der Zeevaart, which had the same oblong format with charts intended for professional seafarers. Blaeu's Licht was published in three parts, the first containing sea charts of the area around the Netherlands, England, France and Spain. The second issue concerned the charts of Northern England, Scotland and Scandinavia. Part 3 included charts of the Mediterranean.

Following the expiration of Blaeu's copyright on the Licht, Johannes Jansson produced a substantially similar work in 1620. In response, Blaeu produced the Zeespiegel, employing an entirely new portable format and abandoning the oblong style of his early Licht.

The present chart is oriented with west at the top and includes the east coast of Jutland.
