Description:

The First Map of The State of North Carolina Printed in England

Rare example of John Stockdale's map of North Carolina, from the London edition of Morse's Geography.

Mapforum's Checklist of the Printed Maps of North Carolina shows this to be the first English language map of North Carolina published following the conclusion of the American Revolution and one of only a few maps to show the state of North Carolina published prior to 1800.

The map is divided by counties and locates towns, roads, rivers, mountains, court houses, etc.

An essential map for North Carolina collectors.
