Description:

One of the Most Impressive and Decorative Maps of Connecticut, Here in the Desirable Folding Map Format.

Hand-colored lithographed folding map of Connecticut, the most detailed and authoritative map of the state of its time. It includes topographical detail, is hand-colored by township and county, and shows railroads as well.

The map was compiled from surveys by G. M. Hopkins, the Philadelphia-based surveyor. Richard Clark was responsible for several other Connecticut maps of counties and towns. The first edition of the present map was published in 1859.

The map is enhanced with nine inset plans: Middletown, Waterbury, Stamford, New Haven, Norwich, Hartford, Bridgeport, New London, and Norwalk.

Detailed Condition:

Few separations of linen repaired on verso. Small stain in the upper right quadrant.
