Description:

Gorgeous map of Ireland from the 1595 Latin edition of Ortelius' Theatrum Orbis Terrarum. This is perhaps the earliest map of Ireland to present the island with any significant detail. The map is divided into counties and shows towns, rivers, lakes, forests, coastal islands and a host of other details. Several sailing ships and decorative cartouches, along with annotations in Lating throughout the map. An essential map for collectors of early maps of Ireland and certainly one of the most attactive of all Irish maps. Van Den Broecke 22.
