Description:

Fine 18th Century Wall Map of the World

Striking example of the 1780 edition of Dunn's decorative double hemisphere map of the World, embellished with a number of different Celestial Models, which has been revised to include the discoveries of Captain Cook on his 3 voyages.

Dunn's map is one of the most popular and recognizable wall maps of the world from the period, having been the map of choice for a number of atlases published by Jefferys, Sayer & Bennett and Laurie and Whittle over a 30 year period. The map was revised several times, with this example, bearing the Sayer & Bennett imprint, being quite possibly the most sought after, because of the addition of the complete set of tracks for Cook's 3 voyages.

Detailed Condition:

Some minor expert restoration along edges, but generally a very good example.
