Description:

One of the Earliest Obtainable Maps of Indiana

Fine example of Fielding Lucas' early map of Indiana, issued three years after its being admitted to the Union.

The southern third of the state includes a number of counties and shows the results of the ongoing state surveys. Some of the more interesting features which appear on the map are several Indian Boundaries and the Northern and Southern Lines of Harrison's purchase, the old Indian Line and Indian Boundary. Early townships and roads are also shown.

Striking example of Fielding Lucas' fine work, which distinguished him as the best publisher of the era. Lucas' maps are highly desirable and increasingly scarce. His maps are printed on a higher quality paper than contemporary maps by Carey & Lea and demonstrate a superior engraving quality and more attractive coloring style.

A fine example of this map, issued by one of the most important early American publishers, which are now virtually unobtainable in atlas form and rarely appear on the market in individual maps.
