Description:

Detailed sea chart of the "China Sea", first published by the British Admiralty in 1887, with correction to 1948 and small corrections to 1951.

The chart extends from China and the south part of the Korean Peninsula to Batavia (Jakarta) and the Celebes, centered on the Philippine Islands.

The chart was revised shortly after World War II and would have been the prevailing general chart of the region during the post-World War II period.
