A Rare English Sea Chart of Ceylon and Southern India

Fine East India Company Sea Chart, covering the southern part of India and the island of Ceylon (Sri Lanka), published in London by Laurie & Whittle.

The chart was published separately and in the Oriental Pilot; Or, East India Directory . . ., published in London.

The chart includes numerous profile views for both the coast of India and the Island of Ceylon. At the top left corner, a more detailed set of Observations and sailing directions is included for the coast from Tellicherry to Calicut Road, based upon surveys by Lieut. George Lewis in 1783.

Below in the bottom left are a second set of Remarks by Lieutenant George Lewis on Cape Coromin and the Gulf of Manara, along with a very detailed treatment of the Maldives.
