Description:

Finely detailed map of Transylvania, published in Paris by Hubert Jaillot in 1696.

The map is centered on Aux Moldaves and covers the area between Russie Rouge ou Noir Montagnes Appellees (Red Russia or Black Mountains) to the north, Autrefois De La Transilvanie Aux Hongrois (Hungary) to the west, Aux Valaques in the south and Cote D'Orbay, Aux Sicules to the east.

The notes at the bottom right of the map explain the region is called Transilvanie (Transylvania) because of its vast forested areas and mountain ranges. It also details the locations of neighboring regions such as Poland, Hungary, Red Russian, Moldavia, etc.

Remarks at the bottom of the map call out the letters and colors that define the German, Hungarian, and French encampments as well as the location of key rivers and mountains.

A scale of miles and hours is also included at the bottom of the map which outlines the road hours and distances to German and Hungarian locations.
