Rare map of Iceland and the coast of Greenland, illustrating the voyage of Blefkenius.

In the early 18th Century, Vander Aa reproduced a number of rare manuscript and printed accounts of 15th and 16th Century travel and included marvelous decorative maps, which were typically based upon contemporary cartographic information. Many of the earliest voyages of exploration which are impossibly rare to find in the original editions can be found in Vander Aa's works, which are now becoming increasing rare.
