Description:

Fascinating 18th Century map of the United States, showing only 15 states. Kentucky and Tennessee are named and correctly located. Georgia extends from the Atlantic to the Mississippi. The region north of the Ohio River is still largely unknown and unexplored, with only a few Indian Villages and Forts shown. The region on both sides of Lake Michigan are similarly unknown. Indian names dominate the region west of the Mississippi, which is still owned by the French. A terrific 18th Century map of the United States.
