Description:

Detailed map of the Arabian Gulf, published by John Bartholomew & Son in Edinburgh.

The map extends west to the Riyadh area and southwest to Oman. The most unusual features of the map are the inset plans of the major cities of the region, including:

- Sharjah
- Dubai
- Ras Al Khaimah
- Al Manmah
- Doha
- Ad Dammam
- Kuwait City
- Muscat & Matah
- Abu Dhabi
- Riyadh

The map locates oil fields, oil pipelines, railways, airports, roads and tracks. Marshlands, wells, and salt deserts are also shown.

Interestingly, the map does not show international borders.

Arabian Gulf (Inset maps of Sharjah, Dubai, Ra Al Khaimah, Al Manmah, Doha, Ad Dammam, Kuwait City, Muscat & Matah, Abu Dhabi, & Riyadh)

The map predates the start of production in the South Pars/North Dome Gas-Condensate field, which began in 1989. The North Field has almost as much recoverable natural gas as all other gas fields combined, and the exploitation of the field has dramatically changed the geopolitics of the Gulf.

It also predates the establishment of the major Emirati fields

Detailed Condition:

Minor soiling, primarily along one fold.
