Description:

Excellent Minneapolis-Published Ethnographic Map Illustrating Norwegian Immigration to the United States and Upper Midwest.

Norwegian-language folding map, printed in red and black, with a general map of the United States on one side and a map of the Upper Midwest, focusing on Minnesota, on the other. The map was published in Minneapolis in 1901, by Martin Ulvestad.

The map shows the largest concentrations of Norwegians in the Upper Midwest, Pacific Northwest, and North of Salt Lake City in Utah.

The key illustrates two levels of Norwegian population density outside of the main areas:

- Sprede Steder, hvor der er norske Menigheder, er markeret med: □ [Scattered places where there are Norwegian churches are marked with: □]
- Andre sprede Steder, hvor der findes Nordmand-men i mindre Antal-er markeret med: O [Other scattered places where there are Norwegians but in smaller numbers are marked: O]

A wonderful cartographic reflection of a Norwegian's interest in his people's settling the United States.
