A New Chart of the China Sea, and East India Archipelago, Comprehending the Sunda Molucca & Phillippine Islands in which are exhibited the Various Straits and Passages to Canton, and between the Indian and Pacific Oceans. . . 1821. Additions to 1826.

One of three stand-alone images comprising the massive chart of Southeast Asia by Norie. This is the central sheet, with the engraved title and covering the area from Hong Kong to Christmas Island, including the Gulf of Siam, Malaysia, Sumatra, Singapore Java, and Batavia (Jakarta).

The map includes the Parcel Islands, Malayan Sea and sailing directions during the various Monsoon Seasons and a close passage for "Leaky Vessels."

The coastline of China south of the Pearl River and north of Hainan is still largely incomplete and partially charted south of Macoa (Macao).

Engraved by Stephenson.

Rarity

The complete chart is quite rare on the market.

Detailed Condition:

Expert restoration around old horizontal folds, with some minor reinstatement of image. Minor soiling in the restored areas.
