Description:

Official Soviet mapping of Syria, published in Moscow in 1977/

A detailed map, typical of those produced in the USSR at this time in terms of its color scheme and themes-covered. The mapsheet has three insets (from top): map of ethnicities (peoples); population density map; and an economic map.

Because the region was continually geopolitically-sensitive, the map relies on Soviet data that vary from what was being published in America and the U.K. at the time.

Detailed Condition:

Folding map with original separate covers.
