The map treats the vast majority of the islands with fine detail, lacking only the northernmost part of Luzon and some of the southernmost islands.

At the right side, Imray includes a note discussing the ongoing survey "in progress" and that "the islands are very imperfectly known, shipmasters are enjoined to be more than usually careful when navigating among them."

Detailed Condition:

Damstain at the lower left corner. Toned at left and right side of image, with minor foxing.
