Description:

Handsomely-engraved antique folding map of Rome produced in Rome in 1862 by Luigi Piale.

The map was intended for Grand Tourists and has keys indicating Piazze, fountains, etc. Roman ruins are marked on the map, darker and set against the layout of contemporary Roman streets and buildings.

An inset map shows the "Contorni di Roma", the outlines or region surroundings of Rome.

Domenico Feltrini, Augusto Fornari, and Giovanni Montiroli were involved in the production of the print.

Detailed Condition:

Dissected in 36 sections and mounted on original linen. Some minor separations of the linen. Linen cleanly separated along the central horizontal fold. Otherwise Very Good. Original marbled paper slipcase.
